Day Supports are critical for the quality of life of people with I/DD. Community Inclusion and employment may be a challenge in the age of Covid-19, but it is still possible to devise a stimulating program that focuses on goal attainment and meets state expectations.

This is a two part series, each program building upon the other.

Day #1: will explore an array of options of how community providers can approach day supports and community inclusion with an eye toward quality that fosters outcomes.

Day #2: will focus on making activities meaningful and purposeful in order to ensure what you are doing meets State expectations. Day supports are happening; however, it is important to tie activities to outcomes that foster growth and focus on goals for the people you support.

The sessions are designed to be informative, offering ideas and approaches that can be applied easily.
